Tax Seminar & Webinar

On 5 October 2021, Hong Kong, Malaysia, and a few other jurisdictions have been placed on the Grey List of Non-Cooperative Tax Jurisdictions (“Grey List”) by the European Union (“EU”).

This is due to the EU’s concerns of double non-taxation of foreign-sourced passive income, such as interest and royalties, under Hong Kong and Malaysian territorial source systems.

What does this Grey List exactly mean for businesses in Hong Kong and Malaysia? And, what has been the Government response in those jurisdictions till so far?

But also, why has Singapore not been put on the Grey List despite having a territorial regime like Hong Kong and Malaysia? What is the EU's standpoint about the Asian territorial tax systems?

The IFA Hong Kong Branch together with the IFA Malaysian and Singaporean Branches will address these questions and provide answers to any other questions that arise during this program.
